The Trinity River

The Trinity River is the highest long river in California and the second longest river in the state. It begins at Trinity Lake, dense with conifer forests, and flows 191 miles south to the Klamath River and the Pacific Ocean. The Trinity River is home to the second largest (5.6 million acres) national forest in the state, the Trinity National Forest. The South Fork of the Trinity, on the other hand, begins at the bottom of Butte Lake and flows 22 miles south to the Trinity River.

Camping

There are numerous front side campground opportunities along both the main Trinity River and the South Fork of the Trinity. In addition, the Trinity River’s west side is home to an extensive series of private campgrounds, which offer superb views of the Trinity River. The west side of the Trinity River is also home to the world famous Tish Campground and the popular access points with several runs to novice summer rafting fun. The Trinity River is a beautiful river which demands proper preparation and equipment to enjoy all the river has to offer.
